FOREWORD

Before letting our readers cross the threshold of this book, we would like to introduce them to a New York minister and scholar, Dr. John Herman Randall, who has furnished the inspiration of this volume. In his essay "The Symmetrical Life" he has pointed out as the four dimensions of life height, depth, breadth, and length.

Feeling that growth in these four dimensions is the aim of every high school student, we have endeavored to portray him from these several viewpoints.

"The Height of One's Life Is Measured By One's Aspirations"

Heighth

“It is a great thing when we learn to understand the beauty and wonder with which this physical world abounds; but it is a still greater thing when you and I are born into that invisible world; for back of the invisible, the visible; behind the intangible, the tangible; and it is through our aspirations that you and I are lifted to that realm of the spiritual value of human existence. When we have linked our lives with spiritual values, then our lives take on the dimension of height, and reach up into the Eternity of Eternities. I pray you, when once you have glimpsed it, follow, follow the gleam.”

MISS FRANCES FORMY-DUVAL

To Our Friend

whose friendship, co-operation, and sympathy have been ours throughout our high school career, we, the Senior Class of 1935, gratefully dedicate this volume of "THE WILDCAT."

MR. FRED W. GREENE

Fred W. Greene

Our Principal

who in one year has endeared himself to the hearts of us all by his fellowship, loyalty, and comradeship.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS EMMA MARTIN
Our Beloved English Teacher
Died December 11, 1934

ELLEN NALL
Our Class-mate
Died September 21, 1934

To Our Faculty

Because after four years in New Hanover High School, we have come to know the hearts of our teachers, to see into the depths of natures which never advertise their own worth, which are laboring silently for the youth of our county with apparently no recognition, we take this opportunity of telling them that we know now what we did not know as freshmen, that their work is not in vain. We have forgotten what degrees they hold; we are indifferent as to the subject which they teach. We are remembering them as men and women; that is why we simply list their names. They are our friends. It is they who have helped us to aspire to ever nobler things, to think deeply, to sympathize fully, and to live creatively.

"The Depth of One's Life Is Measured By One's Thinking"

Depth

“Real thinking means co-sequence of ideas, ideas arranged in certain order, that depend logically and naturally upon one another, that are faced frankly and earnestly, and that lead to definite conclusions about facts and about truths.

“We must think, really think, think for ourselves, think on the great problems of life, and we must think our problems through to the end. I beg you, dare to think your problem through to the end. The conclusion may not be a final one for the world; it may not be a satisfying conclusion for other people; but it will be your conclusion; and because it is your own, it will give you a center from which to think and to work; it will furnish the strongest kind of structure upon which you can rear your own philosophy of life.”

LEGACY

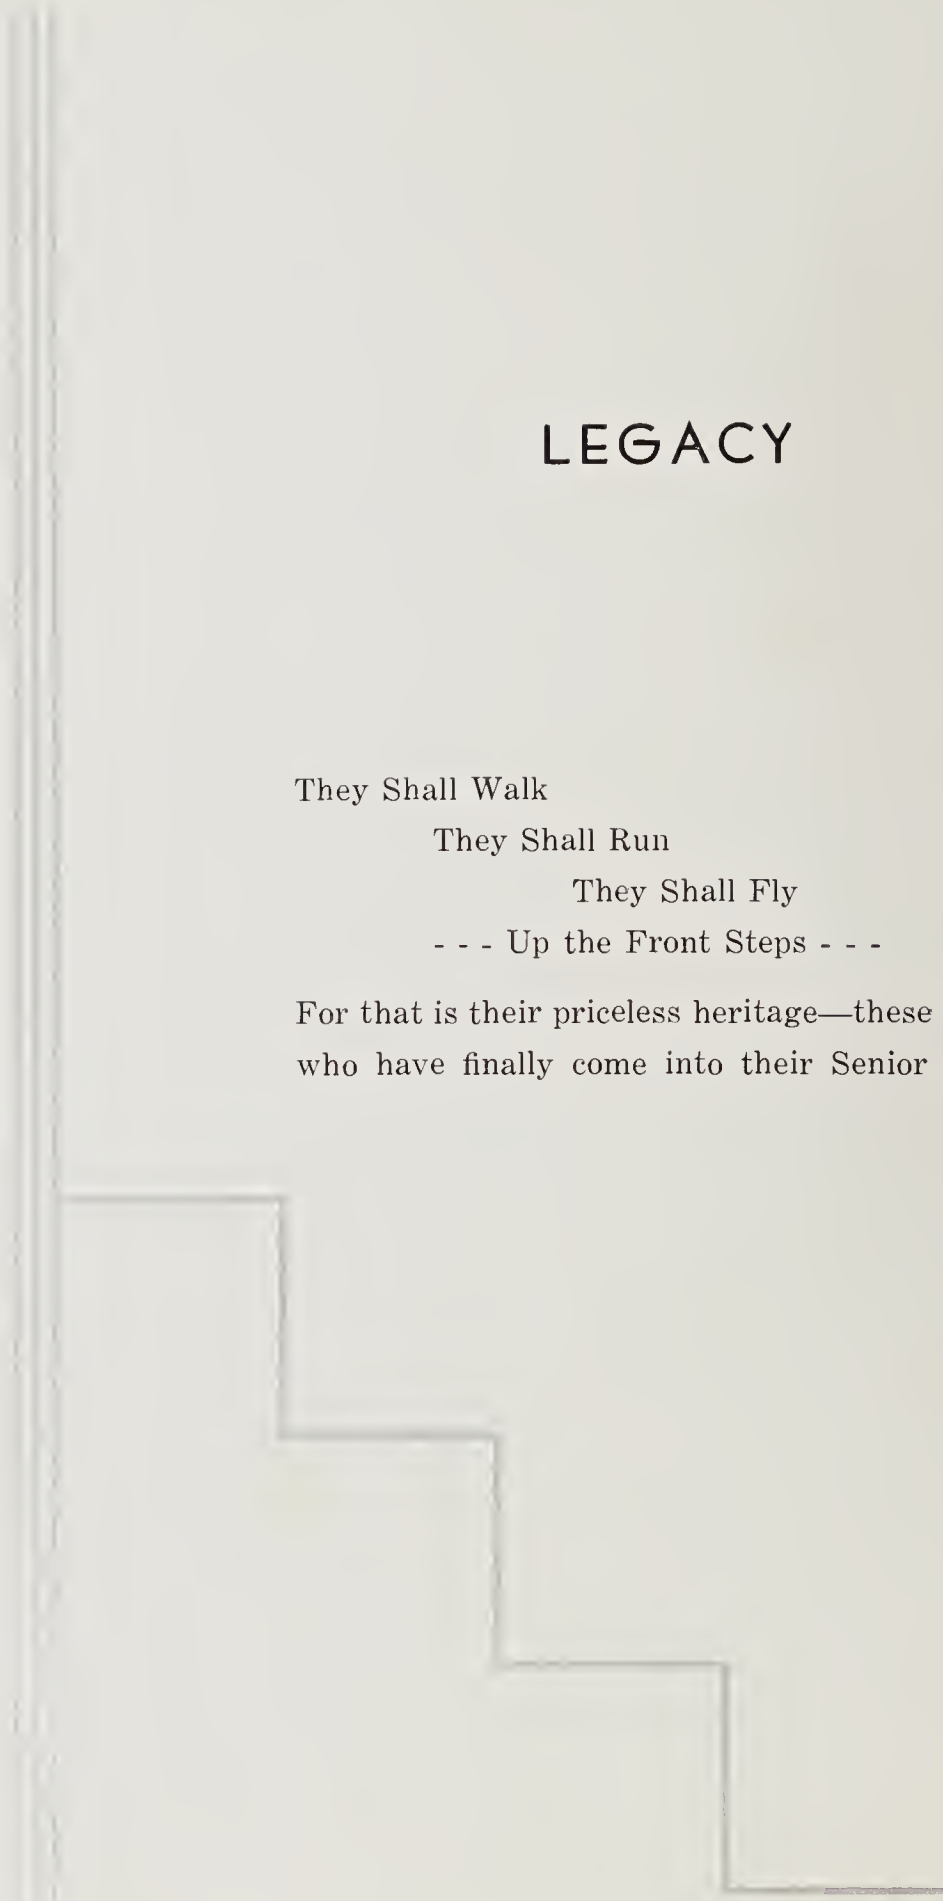

They Shall Walk

They Shall Run

They Shall Fly

- - - Up the Front Steps - - -

For that is their priceless heritage—these Juniors who have finally come into their Senior year.

"The Breadth of One's Life Is Measured By One's Sympathies"

Breadth

“We are living in many different worlds: the world of literature, of history, of science, of music, of art. We must know something of all these things — something of the beauty of music and literature and art, something of the moving records of the past, something of the great discoveries and contributions of science; not only something of these things, but we must know the world of men and women about us. Our lives are broad in just the measure that we can sympathize with all kinds and classes of people.

“Yet we are living in a time when there is little of what we call human sympathy and understanding. Nations, races, classes, individuals are backing off into their corners and shouting their particular shibboleths at one another, when all the time only sympathy and kindness can save this world. Together is the magic word— Together, hand in hand, heart and heart, shoulder to shoulder, working to bring in the richer and fuller and more abundant life of mankind.”

John Herman Randall

The Girls' Hi-Y was organized in the fall of 1934 under the leadership of the Boys' Hi-Y and has had a very successful year. We have tried during the year to carry out plans that would be of benefit to the community and the school. The club has endeavored to live up to its motto: "Character through Service."

Our success this year was largely due to the work of our advisors, Miss Katherine Wilfley, Miss Jean Hall, and Mrs. Oscar Cranz to whom we are deeply grateful.

Members of the Kiwi Aviation club of New Hanover High School enjoyed an afternoon of airplane rides at Bluethenthal airport January 5th.

While in the air the members took pictures of the city and surrounding territory. Many interesting facts about flight maneuvers were given the members. The trips were supervised by Mr. Spencer, mathematics instructor, assisted by Warren Pennington, pilot and district manager for Coastal Plains Airways, Inc.

This organization, composed of ambitious students of aviation, are making much progress in the study of this industry, and are taking an active part in the promotion of aviation.

Foot Ball

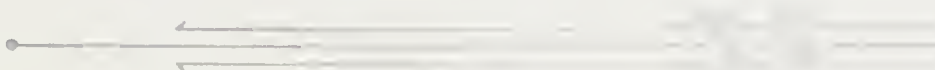

Under the direction of a new coach, Emory E. Adkins, former all southern center at Duke University, the Wildcat eleven and the student body have shown more fight and support than in the last few years. The team was handicapped by a new system introduced this year, but a stronger and more powerful Wildcat team is expected next year with plenty of reserve material.

The outstanding players of the past season were: Cecil Robinson, who called signals from the full-back position and who will be remembered for his 90 yard run for a touchdown on the kick-off against Rocky Mount, Ralph Horton, who received the name of "Dead Eye Dick" because of his accurate passing and his line plunges, and Wythe Quarles, who played tackle and was shifted to end was placed on the all state team.

Basket Ball

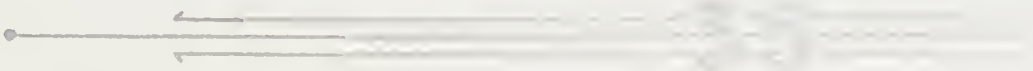

Due to last year's graduation the Wildcat five started off the season with only two veterans, Joe Yates and Wythe Quarles. However the team fought and worked together, finally producing a team which, although not a success from the standpoint of games won, showed a fine co-operative and working spirit.

The two most outstanding players were Nick Burris and D. B. Robinson. Both were playing on the team for the first time and are graduating this year. After the graduation of these two, plus Joe Yates and Wythe Quarles, there will remain 4 veterans for next year: James McKeithan, James Henderson, Ward Andrews, and Bill Land. With these prospects in view we expect to have a winning team next year.

Girls' Basket Ball

The Girls' Basket Ball Team started off at a great disadvantage this year with only two of their former varsity men: Lily Pearl Williamson and Agnes Lucas.

In addition to this fact, the gymnasium was much in demand by the boxing team. Shortly after practices began the boxing team erected a "ring" on half the floor. This, of course, eliminated all future scrimmage and gave the girls only a limited space for passing. However, the team has had a fair season, losing to Whiteville, New Bern, and Southport.

Lily Pearl Williamson and Agnes Lucas tied for high score, while the consistent good playing of Ruby Benton and Margaret Walton was outstanding.

During the entire season, the team displayed good form, their speed, and good passwork, both offensive and defensive, being commented on favorably by quite a few spectators.

Financially speaking the squad is better off than ever, having had good crowds at every game. The girls team, as usual, is self-supporting and intends to remain so, if possible. With the cash on hand at the end of the season, the team hopes to buy a few new uniforms.

Boxing

Although a new sport in the N. H. H. S. lineup, boxing proved to be very successful. The team started out handicapped because it had no previous years of training, while other teams in the state had been organized for several years. Under the training of their coach, Jimmy Price, the boxers steadily gained in technique and strength, at the same time showing a great deal of spirit and co-operation.

The team sent three members to the state meet: Leon Thomas, Elmer Thomas, and Nelson Simon. Elmer went to the finals, Leon to the semi-finals, and Nelson to the quarter finals.

During the entire season the team engaged in sixty-three fights; they lost 26, won 33 and fought to a draw 4. Leon Thomas, the captain, had the best record, having won 8 fights and lost 2, winning 5 by knockouts.

GLENWARD BLOMME, Coach

Tennis Club

The Tennis Club started on a very successful season. The club is made up of students desiring to learn more about the game and has fifty-nine members, the majority of whom are boys. Last year the boys' team had a most successful season, having won the state team championship. This year's schedule included several matches with college freshmen. The girls' team scheduled only two games last season but this year has played more than that, and the team is a great improvement over that of last season.

If the boys' team should be successful in the state championship matches, it will be quite a crowning achievement for them and their coach, Glenward Blomme. A much better schedule for the girls' team was made this year, and by next year some return play matches are expected; and if the girls keep on progressing as well as they have so far, the school will have a team of which they will be rightly proud.

“It is a law of our being, that we shall not merely dream dreams and see visions, but that we shall ultimately make them into the great reality, the thing actually done. How futile our dreams unless we can translate them into the thing done! Many a man or woman has lived to be fourscore and ten who has not begun to live as long as the young man or woman who may have died in the twenties or thirties, but who left behind them a record of achievement. The length of life does not depend upon the number of years, but on how we use the opportunities that are ours, how we employ the energy with which we have been endowed.”

John Herman Randall

Class History

There are certain events that mark the end of one period of life's journey and suggest the beginning of a new. Graduation from high school must certainly be regarded as such an event. We look backward on what has been accomplished and forward with hope and plans and aspirations. This is not a prophecy but a history, and so it deals with what has been accomplished. It is the record of the past.

There is no justification for us to remember the past unless it be to encourage us in the present and inspire us in the future. For four years we have companioned together. When the joys associated with graduation are over, we are sobered with the thought we shall not likely be together again as a class. This history is written with the hope that in the years to come one glimpse at its pages will revive memories that are sweet and fine and profitable, and paint such scenes on the canvas of recollection as will bring us joy and gladness.

The importance of recording this class history for future reference is made clear to us because of the difficulty we have in recalling the past. It seems but a short time since we were labeled Freshmen. So much that seems important now had little meaning then. We did not count for much. Our task was finding our place and keeping out of the way of the upper classmen. We tried to do our best and enter into the life of the school. We knew our time for leadership would come and the best preparation would be to listen and learn, in short, to follow, and this we did to the best of our ability.

As Sophomores we measured up to the traditional sophomore attitude. We began to feel our importance. We were well represented in the school clubs and organizations. We moved a little nearer the front. We took our place from time to time on the platform. We were entrusted with more important tasks. As the months passed, we not only felt our importance, but we made our importance felt in the life of the school. As we look back from the present place of privilege, we know the first two years were years of preparation for the succeeding years.

We were known and recognized when we became Juniors. It was 'Howdy Bill,' 'Hello Mary,' 'John, do this,' and 'Jane, you take charge of that.' Our members began to occupy places of leadership. We were well represented in athletics. Our feeling of importance gave place to a new sense of responsibility. The success of various activities and enterprises connected with the school life depended upon our interest and our work. Scholastic standing took on added meaning. We provided our full share in talent and support of the Hi-Y Minstrel. We presented a Junior Play entitled, "Depend On Me" which measured up in a fine way with such efforts in the past, both as to merit and financial success. We did our part in the presentation of the High School Follies. Our members served with distinction on the school paper, and climaxed the years achievements with being honored by the election of fourteen members to the National Honor Society, a coveted distinction, the desired goal of every high school student, as it stands for Character, Leadership, Scholarship, and Service.

Changes must and do come, usually at unexpected times and places. Our Principal and friend for three years, Doctor W. O. Hampton, resigned his place. We closed our Junior year with concern as to what the future would bring. The school term had been reduced to eight months, and now we must approach the long anticipated Senior year wondering what would happen next. The general financial condition was creating difficult problems in public education, and change was in the air.

Our long vacation of four months passed quickly. During this period we heard all sorts of rumors regarding changes that were to be made in the high school. We wondered what our last year would be, but like the storm clouds that give way to the brilliance of the sun, our doubts were dispelled on the opening day with the radiant smile and the extended hand of our new principal, Mr. Fred W. Greene. Our Senior year opened auspiciously.

A high school student for three long years looks forward to the first Senior privilege, the thrill of going up the front steps; we bear our willing witness we were not disappointed. It must be recorded here that we did not meet our new principal; he met us. Our concern about the future was gone. It was soon evident that Mr. Fred W. Greene was to be the creator of a new day in New Hanover High School history and we were to be his first associates in bringing into being the new order. During the first weeks our Senior year had taken on added meaning; and as we have since realized, it has been more to us than we ever hoped or dreamed.

There are clouds as well as sunshine, sorrows as well as joys in life. The sudden deaths of our fellow student, Ellen Nall and our teacher and friend, Miss Emma Martin, cast a pall of sorrow over these first days. Tributes of our love and esteem are expressed in a fitting manner on the pages of this Annual. We loved them; they loved us; love is immortal.

So much depends upon the example and leadership of the members of the Senior Class. I think it can be said without contradiction the members of our class have proved themselves worthy Seniors. Through months of hard work our scholarship and leadership measured up to the high standard required of us.

School Spirit is a thing that is hard to define, and yet one cannot help but feel it. There are certain factors that make it, and we think we did our share in contributing to it. The school paper reached a high point of efficiency and usefulness. Clubs and organizations under Senior leadership were very active and worthwhile. Outstanding interest was manifested in developing the athletic enterprises of the school. Seventeen members of the class were added to the National Honor Society making thirty-one members in all. All these things combine to make our school great, and we have the satisfaction of knowing we made our contribution.

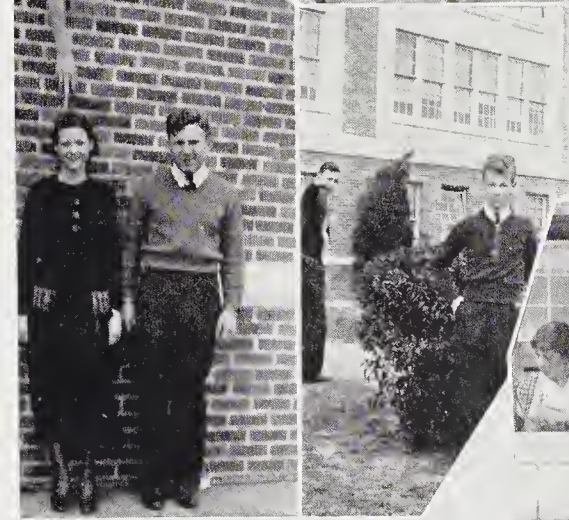

Graduation is the climax of high school life, but the activities that proceed this event crowd the closing weeks with memories never to be forgotten. The Senior Prom was scarcely over 'till we were at work on the Senior Play. Next came the Annual Prom, then the Junior-Senior Entertainment, and finally the Hi-Y Minstrel. These events deserve more space than can be accorded them here, but just the mention of them is sufficient to bring to mind the joyous events that crowned these last days as students in New Hanover High School.

The dedication by the class of this Annual to Miss Frances Formy-Duval will be a constant source of satisfaction to the members of this class. Her ability in the class room, and her desire to be a friend, demonstrated on so many occasions, can never be erased from our memories. To Miss Formy-Duval and every teacher who has contributed to our development through the four years of High School life we express our deepest love and appreciation. To them we owe a debt we cannot pay save in living upright, useful lives. They have made their contribution to us; we shall try to make our contribution to them, by carrying on, and doing our best, in a world they have helped us to know and to appreciate through their devotion to their high calling.

Class Poem

Four years! How fast the time has flown!

Too soon it seems to say adieu.

And though our high school days are o'er

We fain would linger here with you.

Four years! Ah, friendships they have brought

To us who must now go away.

What joys we have with new-found friends

Can never take their place, we say.

Not all was pleasure; many a day

When first we came was dark and drear

Before the torch of friendships gay

Lightened the burdens and brought us cheer.

Oh, yes! 'tis hard to say adieu,

N. H. H. S., our high school dear;

Our fondest hearts will be with you,

And now we leave you with a tear.

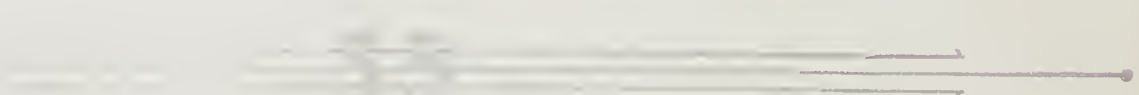

A tear, perhaps; but life's ahead,

Another drummer beats our pace.

Forth to the battle we must go.

Farewell! Others come to take our place.

Distance Plane Forced Back in Mid-Atlantic

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 1.—Lieutenants David Cavanaugh, Joe Nesbit, Philip McKee, and Fred Neuber escaped a cold plunge into the Atlantic today after sending cut an S O S at 8 A. M. Their escape was due to the quick thinking of Pilots Cavanaugh and McKee. Faulty oil pressure caused them to turn back so early. If they had completed their flight from Wilmington, N. C., to Liberia, they would have broken their present record for long distance flying.

Young Democrats Will Meet Here in February

Mr. Fulton Allen, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has received a letter saying the Young Democrats will hold their convention here in February.

Maurice Canady, president of the organization, has announced some of the speakers. Miss Clarice Bailey, outstanding social worker; Dr. Margaret Bellamy, who has charge of the Baby Clinic and Miss Margaret Braxton, Dean of Cape Fear School for Girls, will be among the women speakers. Charles Davis, Bobby Eddings and LeRoy Fennel are three other outstanding speakers.

The officers of the local organization are: Porter Hufham, president; Forest Hall, vice-president, and Harry Bethea, secretary and treasurer.

The Young Democrats are trying to have the 21st Amendment repealed, because they have learned from thorough study that the 18th is better.

Wins By Close Majority; Meyland Close Second

Raleigh, Jan. 1.—William (Billy) Broadfoot, Jr., of Wilmington in a race for governor of North Carolina, won by a small majority over a former classmate, August Meyland. Billy King, another of their classmates of N. H. H. S., was elected as lieutenant governor.

Broadfoot and King attended Duke University for three years. Having secured sufficient education to enter politics, they began their career as candidates for legislators in 1939.

Broadfoot's campaign has been equally as spirited as those campaigns he used to make during his years in high school. If his term of serving the State is as successful as his service to his school, we may expect big things for the State this year.

Wildcat Cagers Win State Championship

The New Hanover cagers were awarded State Championship in their final battle last night. The boys give Coach D. B. Robinson most of the credit for their victories. It was through his patient training and work that the boys were able to win.

Coach Robinson was a member of the Class of '35, and a star member of the Basketball team.

CORRESPONDENCE

Dear Editor:

We wish to express our thanks to David Struthers for his excellent work in securing our new city auditorium. Mr. Struthers has been working continually for three years to get this lovely building. For the forthcoming year we already have four big conventions scheduled to meet in our city. An event of much interest to all Wilmingtonians will be a concert by Mr. Percy Rhodes, most famous pianist of America. We think Mr. Struthers should be properly thanked for his splendid and untiring efforts.

Very sincerely,
Mike Harris,
Byron Kinlaw,
Frank LeRay,
Walter Lockamy,
Joe Lord.

Dear Editor:

We were surprised to see the cartoons appearing in this paper last week. If they were not slandering Mr. Broadfoot's character, they were certainly not in good taste. We think Messrs. Jack Kester and Billy Walker should not be quite so blunt in their drawings.

Very sincerely,
Graham Alderman,
Vernon Allen,
George Ayash,
Allen Brinson.

Dear Editor:

We wish to express our thanks to Mr. Frank Piner for the work he has done so faithfully at Thirteenth and Market Streets. He has been ever loyal in performing his duties. His patience and kindness have won the friendship of all the children.

Sincerely,
Students of N. H. S. and Isaac Bear Schools.

Governor-Elect to Pass Through City

Governor-elect William Broadfoot will pass through the city on his way south. He has been advised by his physician to go South to recuperate from his strenuous campaign. Judging from the people who are planning to entertain their former classmate, he will need extra time for recovery. But it is a part of the game. Among those entertaining Mr. Broadfoot are: Misses Annie Lois Council, Cora Lee Benson, Annie Mae Bledson, Thelma Bordeaux, Margaret Boteskie, Elizabeth Burriss, Myrtle Carter, Crystal Cherry, Dorothy Clark, Minnie Crews, Carolyn Dempsey, Evelyn Dixon, Mary Dixon, Laurie Marie Dobson, Dienie Drevyn, Dot Driver, Dorothy Dyke, Dorothy Eanes, Margaret Eason, Winifred Fales, Berta Fennell, Rachael Godwin, Dorothy Hearn, Christine Hennicker, Alice Hewett, Marguerite Hewlett, Marie Hilburn, Eugenia Hill, Margaret Huhn, Katherine Hunt, Hazel Jordan, Gladys Keal, Helen LeLoudis, Evelyn Lewis, Aline Marshall and Madeline Marshburn.

Nurses Pass State Board

Raleigh.—The State Board examinations for nurses were held here last week. Nurses from all over the State came to take the examination. The following nurses from Wilmington were successful in passing the examination thereby placing their names on the nurses registry: Mary Frances Mintz, Katherine Murray, Adelaide Overby, Annie Pepper, Ann Powers, Olivia Raferty, Joyce Register, Ethel Zellers, Polly Meredith, Beulah Sammons and Clarice Simmons, and Frances Tinken, Doris Weathersbee, Lois Stevens, Elaine Stacey and Gladys Skipper.

The girls received their training in Wilmington at James Walker Memorial Hospital. They were graduated from N. H. H. S. in 1935.

Wilmington Boys Pass State Bar

Raleigh.—The following Wilmington boys passed the State Bar examination here: Joe Yates, Mac Nesbit, Alfred Seitter and Herman Lynch. These men have been studying for the past seven years at the University of N. C. and Duke University. They are graduates of New Hanover High School. Their many friends will recall how faithfully and patiently these young men studied in their high school days.

Dear Editor:

We wish to congratulate Mr. Robert Coleman and wish for him success in adding the "Old Reliable," namely, the Raleigh Observer, to his chain of leading newspapers. We remember the days back in '35 when we referred to Mr. Coleman as "Old Reliable" in high school.

Alumni Wins Local Bouts

Men of the class of '35, prominent business men of the city, defeated the New Hanover High boys last night in boxing. The '35 boys injured were: George Bethea, two teeth knocked out; Billy Scoggins, black eye; Hampton Noe, broken finger; Ralph Creech, broken nose; James Pennington, black eye; Charles Gray, broken toe; James Lawther, broken nose; James Orrell, both thumbs broken; Samuel Nichols, broken finger-nail; Howard Ozment, broken toe; and Norwood Rivenbark, a bruised knee. Most of these injuries were sustained while players were knocked out. Coach Adkins was the referee. He was inclined to favor the '35 boys—perhaps he remembered how tender they were at New Hanover High School.

Pirates Begin Practice

Baseball fans will be interested in knowing that the Pirates are to begin their practice next week. They are now of the Piedmond League. Those on the team are: Melzar Pearsall, Charles Rivenbark, Rufus Powell, Robert Sikes, James Swails, Charles Thomas, Charles Wilson, Richard Woods, Horace Woodbury, Cicero Yow, Charles Upchurch, William Thompson, Sterling Shue, Elmo Shivar and John Seitter.

Edinburgh, Scotland, Jan. 1. —Miss Kitty Bass of U. S. A. won the world tennis championship for women, when she defeated Miss Helen Wills Moody, 0-0, 0-0. Miss Bass is from Wilmington, N. C. Championships are nothing new for Miss Bass as she began eleven years ago when she held her first title in N. H. H. S. for four years.

Coach Robinson's Boys
Win Rose Bowl Game

Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1.— Coach Cecil (Mullet) Robinson's Crimson Tide swept on to victory over Stanford today. There has been some talk of fowl play, but officials are not sure there is any truth in it. Rumors have it that the Dizzy-Dozen of N. H. H. S. of 1935, in answer to Coach Robinson's appeal for help followed the N. C. boys out here. Those Dizzy girls led by the Dizziest of all, Dorothy Reed Miller, streamed out on the field during the half, went over and told the Stanford boys they were giving a party that night and wanted them all to be there. A Stanford boy was heard to say when tackled, "go easy, pal, I gotta go to that party tonight, those were certainly dizzy-looking girls. The field captain, in calling the signals so far forgot himself as to yell, 'Dizzy Girls' instead of 20, 12, etc."

Those girls must have made a hit. They were: Frances Lewis, Marguerite Stanton, May Walsh, Mary Francis Farmer, Mary Wallace, Anita Watson, Ruth Black, Dorothy Reed Miller, Elizabeth Fussell, Louise Allen, Betsy Myers, and Emily Stanton.

Last Will and Testament

Know all men by these presents: That we the Senior Class of New Hanover High, being, for the most part, of a sound mind, are now assailed with the acute realization of the proximity of our departure from this beloved and venerable institution, and:

WHEREAS: We of the Senior Class being assured that we constitute the most dignified and erudite body ever to pass beneath the portals of this edifice, and:

WHEREAS, We the Senior Class being forwarded by a desire to preserve, in those who follow us, a continuance of such traits and qualities as have enabled us to complete the courses prescribed by this institution with a varied degree of honors, and:

WHEREAS, We therefore make the following disposition of such valuable goods and chattels as we may at this time be seized of and possess.

We, the Senior Class of 1934-35, will to the Senior Class of 1935-36, our special privileges and duties and our stellar reputation.

We, the Senior Class, will and bequeath to the Junior Class of next year, our love for the faculty for their untiring efforts in our behalf.

We, the Senior Class, do bestow and bequeath to the incoming Sophomore Class, our dignity and transcendent knowledge.

We, the Senior Class, do will and bequeath to the Freshman Class a love for our school and those who have made our brief (or lengthy) sojourn here pleasant.

1. I, Pat Breen, will my wit to Winston Broadfoot.
2. I, Clarence Myers, will my persuasive arguments to Jack LeGwin.
3. I, Jack Kester, will my artistic ability to Charles Cunningham.
4. I, Graham Edwards, will my Clark Gable complex to Ralph Horton.
5. I, Ralph Rusher, do will my good looks to Carlton Watkins.

6. I, Edward Bryant, will my studious nature to Leslie Boney.
7. I, Jack Dickenson, do will my cynical nature to Peter Knight.
8. I, Auley Crouch, do will my slim and graceful figure to Margaret Frances Allen.
9. I, Billy Campbell, do will my suavity and insouciance to Mary Palmer Wilson.
10. I, August Meyland, will my handsome physique to Lief Jansen.
11. I, David Struthers, will my heart and hand to Marjorie Lancaster.
12. I, Wythe Quarles, will my executive and dictatorial powers to Warren Quarles.

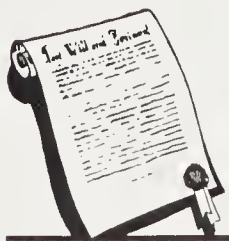

We, the Senior Class of New Hanover High School, being in total agreement with the foregoing, and affirming it to be our Last Will and Testament, and revoking all former wills heretofore made and executed by us, do hereunto affix our hand and seal on this the 17th day of May, year of our Lord nineteen hundred and thirty-five.

Signed and Sealed:

WYTHE QUARLES, President,
DAVID STRUTHERS, Vice-President
DOROTHY REED MILLER, Secretary.

Appreciation

To the editorial, art, and business staffs of the 1935 WILDCAT, whose splendid co-operation has made this book possible; to MISS SARAH LOVE, faculty advisor, who with her untiring efforts perfected the book; to MISS LILLY PEARL WILLIAMSON for her faithful work as typist for the ANNUAL; to BILLY CAMPBELL for his assistance; to the WILMINGTON STAMP AND PRINTING COMPANY, especially MR. FRED E. LITTLE and BERNARD S. SOLOMON; to MR. H. A. ADAMS who made the pictures; and to our advertisers who have contributed largely to the financial success of the book, I wish to express my deepest appreciation.
